Notification of format change of Version and Release numbering schema

This is official notice that for the purposes of adhering to development best practices and more consistent organization of TFS monikers we are altering the format of the version and release numbering system to more correctly reflect the iteration in question.

Where “Version” describes the major function set of a given module and “Release” describes smaller service releases that may both address any defects that may be discovered in production and may also introduce subsets of additional functionality to the major function set. A release may also include polishing or minor enhancements to cosmetics or usability.

Old Format

Release	Version
R1	V1

Example: ODCT R1V1

New Format

Version	Release
V1	R1

Example: ODCT V1R1

Affected Future Deliverables

This in no way affects any deliverables or approval documents other than that MCESA acknowledge and approve that we are altering the numbering schema to the new format from now on going forward.

Affected Retroactive Deliverables

All references to the version numbering in the ODCT – Teacher R1V1 User Guide will be changed to reflect the new numbering schema, and it will be re-delivered to MCESA.
