“Build a Better CTE Program”

Interactive Notebook

The Interactive Notebook (IAN) session will teach instructors how to help students stay organized by recording their information, process ideas, and become independent thinkers. Plus, this skill will benefit the students when they transition to college. IAN's are used for class notes as well as for other activities where the student will be asked to express his/her own ideas and process the information presented in class. All you need to get started with your own IAN is colored pencils, highlighters, pen or pencil, a spiral notebook, glue, scissors, and information on your subject!

Picmonic

Picmonic provides the only research proven audio-visual mnemonic methodology to help students’ master critical information and retain it. Talk to the inventor and see how it works!

Competitive Events Success

This training will give you the latest up to date changes in the 2013-14 competitive events, success strategies, examples of winners and why, information on equipment and much, much more. Participate in mock competitions and come up with winning topics.

Update on Immunizations

Come hear author Karen Lewis, M.D., Medical Director of the Arizona Immunization Program Office, Arizona Department of Health Services discuss immunizations. You will also hear about the Poster Contest they are sponsoring on the History of the Vaccine.
