

It's not too late to submit the Fuel Up To Play 60 Touchdown Dance Challenge. Submissions will be accepted until July 18th. This could be a fun activity to complete during a Summer Food Service Program. Don't miss out on a chance to win big prizes for your school. Read more:

You've completed another school year, and that calls for a celebration . football style! The Touchdown Dance Challenge is a great opportunity to show off your very own touchdown dance and your school could win bigō NFL player big.

If selected as the national winner, you could teach an NFL player how to do your dance in front of the whole school next fall!

Follow these tips for the best possible challenge entry:

- Work out your signature moves. Your submission doesn't have to be a full dance. If striking a touchdown or end zone pose is easier . have someone capture a picture of you in that pose. Regardless of whether you have a digital camera, smartphone or video camera, we are looking for the following types of submissions:
 - A picture or still image of your touchdown dance or celebratory pose
 - A video or digital recording of you doing your touchdown dance
 - A slideshow with images (or drawings) of each move in your dance
- Keep it clean. Make sure there is no swearing, violence or other inappropriate behavior featured in your submission.
- Be original. If you want to do your dance to music, be sure to use the tracks we provided. Don't use music, videos or pictures that belong to someone else. If you could hear it on the radio or see it on TV, it can't be used in your submission.
- Watch the clock. Try to keep your entry short and sweet! If you are submitting a video, try to keep it less than two minutes.
- Promote the program. Wear Fuel Up to Play 60 gear or show us your inspirational posters or other Fuel Up to Play 60 materials hanging in your classroom.

- Be descriptive. Include a description with your entry, letting us know why you think it completes the Challenge.
- Be on time! Don't want until the last minute to send in your Challenge entry! Be sure to get your entry completed and uploaded online as soon as you get it done. This ensures you will be in the running for the national prize and exclusive digital rewards!
