Students, parents, and professionals encouraged to attend. A certificate will be provided for renewal of professional certifications.

College and higher education is possible for students with disabilities. Find out how to prepare in high school and continue to thrive afterwards. At the completion of this workshop participants will:

- 1) Understand the transition planning process in high school and what parents and professionals can do now to help.
- 2) Learn proven student-centered planning strategies that lead to student confidence and success after high school
- 3) Gain awareness of important considerations in adult higher education programming options.
- 4) Explore how college learner expectations and teaching platforms have evolved, what to expect now, and how they differ from high school
- 5) Assess critical college skills and individualized needed supports.
- 6) Understand the laws governing students with disabilities in higher education and how to request accommodations and other non-regulated supports through the Disability Services Offices.

*Third Workshop in the EMPOWERMENT SERIES for high school students and young adults with disabilities and their families/supporters
