

Intel® Education Teachers Engage

Teachers Engage is an online community for any educator interested in the core concepts of Intel® Teach program courses: instructional design, project-based approaches, effective use of technology, assessment of 21st century skills, and open-ended questioning.

Why should you join?

- Learn about Web 2.0 tools and to effectively use them in the classroom
- Network with educators worldwide (Intel Teach participants represent 60 countries)
- Be informed on ed tech policies and share your point of view
- Engage in community activities for opportunities to win cool technology gadgets for your classroom
- Participate in our Webinars or host your own in the community
- Access all your Intel Teach training resources in one location
- Receive tips, tricks, and strategies for effective trainings
- Create a group to support your next Intel Teach training (blogs, collaborative work space, wikis...all in one space)
- Share your stories of results with other inspiring educators
- Get training updates and provide feedback to the Intel Education team

Stay engaged in 21st century learning at <http://engage.intel.com>
(log in with your thinking tools credentials or turn the page for information on registering)

Getting Started in Your Intel Teach Community

Go to <http://engage.intel.com>

If you have an account with Intel's Assessing Projects tool or one of our other thinking tools, click "Login" and use your tool login Id and password. If you forgot your login or password, you can retrieve them.

Otherwise, Click "Register"

TIP: Fill out your profile completely: this lets our customer support team know that you are an educator.

Tips on how to use our community

Take some time to explore and familiarize yourself with Intel Teach Teachers Engage.

On the main page is a list of "How to tips" to learn how to use community.

A good place to start is "About our Community".

Let us know you're here!

Email teachersengage@intel.com for any support you need with community.