

Supply List and Directions for Arizona Migrant Education Webinar

Everyone has a story: Origami Accordion Book

Dear Coordinators,

As we move into the break, this next video class will address an activity that parents can do with children over the summer vacation to keep up literacy skills.

Along with the objectives listed for the parents in the webinar, we continue to move forward on meeting the objectives of the Comprehensive Needs Assessment under the following categories:

Supportive Services:

- To provide parent education and books/materials/supplies
- To coordinate and collaborate with outside agencies...for additional support services to meet identified needs and support student learning and success.

Parent and Family Needs:

- To train parents to increase family literacy skills and learning strategies for helping children with reading and homework.

Goal 2: School Readiness:

- To provide sufficient information, resources, and practice strategies to parents to support their children.
- To provide parents with strategies to support their children's academic success

This activity will be slightly different than previous ones. The directions are for parents to complete the activity and their child will be the helper. The parents' homework assignment is to have their child create and write an origami accordion book over the summer and bring it back in the fall to share. By doing this "backwards" we remind parents that they are their child's first teacher.

Per usual, please view the video before sharing it with families. The video and activity will take about an hour to complete. Be sure that you prep enough materials so that each child will be able to make one or more origami accordion books over the summer. You may want to have childcare available for children younger than five.

For questions, please contact Doreen Calendaria, SMPAC Coordinator. Doreen would like to remind you that supplies are an allowable expenditure along with purchasing food and providing childcare during the meeting. Please remember to complete and send the sign-in sheet to doreen.candelaria@azed.gov after your meetings. All information is posted on the ADE/MEP website <http://www.azed.gov/migrant/agendas-materials/>.

Have fun with your families!

Thank you,

Jennifer Medina
