

3Ps in a Pod Podcast

with ADE & the Arizona K12 Center on the Arizona Science Standards! PD in 30 Episode

Explore the new Arizona Science Standards in this PD in 30 segments of 3Ps in a Pod with Rebecca Garelli, science and STEM specialist at the Arizona Department of Education, and Robyn Yewell, fifth-grade educator at Harelson Elementary School in the Amphitheater Unified District.

PD in 30 is exactly what it sounds like: a professional development session in 30 minutes or less. Garelli and Yewell will be using the document linked here to talk through what has changed in the standards and what educators can do to help support students in moving into inquiry and phenomena-based learning. This segment is most beneficial if you're able to listen with a pencil and paper in hand and can easily hit the pause and play buttons on your listening device. Feel free to listen with a group of other teachers or by yourself.

Laying the Foundation with Arizona's Language Development Approach

CONGRESS PASSED THE AMERICAN RESCUE PLAN ACT, H.R. 1319

This interactive virtual professional learning series will continue to build a strong foundation for practitioners as they navigate through Arizona's shifts in English Language Development, programming, and instruction. It is through the understanding of Arizona's Language Development Approach (LDA) and its four Principles, that educators will further develop the mindset and increased scope to be responsive and supportive to the needs of our English learners.
