SECONDARY ELA BOOK STUDY

The Writing Revolution
A Guide to Advancing Thinking Through Writing in All Subjects and Grades
by Judith Hochman and Natalie Wexler

The Text: This powerful book explores: Why you need a writing revolution in your classroom and how to lead it! The Writing Revolution (TWR) provides a clear method of instruction that you can use no matter what subject or grade level you teach. The model can turn weak writers into strong communicators by focusing on specific techniques that match their needs and by providing them with targeted feedback. It also helps: Boost reading comprehension, improve organizational and study skills, enhance speaking abilities, and develop analytical capabilities. The Writing Revolution is as much a method of teaching content as it is a method of teaching writing. There's no separate writing block and no separate writing curriculum. Instead, teachers of all subjects adapt the TWR strategies and activities to their current curriculum and weave them into their content instruction. But perhaps what's most revolutionary about the TWR method is that it takes the mystery out of learning to write well. It breaks the writing process down into manageable chunks and then has students practice the chunks they need, repeatedly, while also learning content.

Final Thoughts

Reflect on your own practice:

- Type one sentence in the chat that answers this question: How will you use today's learning in your own classroom and teaching practice?

Thank you so much for taking part in this professional learning webinar! Justin and I will stay on for those that have more questions or would like to chat.

Feel free to raise your hand, unmute, and ask questions.

Thank you!
