ACT and ACT Aspire Scoring:
Interpreting the Results

October 7, 2022 Webinar

ACT Aspire

Where can we access state data for ACT Aspire? Use the following link to access the ACT Aspire Interpretive Guide for Summative Reports: https://success.act.org/s/article/ACT-Aspire-Interpretive-Guide-for-Summative-Reports. Since no performance levels were adopted, state proficiency rates are not available.

Due to low student counts in reports when disaggregated at the school level, would some of the reports displayed not be FERPA-compliant for a public Governing Board Meeting?
It is always a good idea to check with your LEA regarding FERPA when sharing out data.

Will ACT Aspire scores be added to the public data sets for ADE Accountability?
At this time, ACT Aspire scores will not be added into the public data sets for ADE Accountability because ACT Aspire is being used for Bonus Points for participation only.

Will ACT Aspire be added into the self-reporting for CCRI?
At this time, ACT Aspire will not be added to self-reporting for CCRI. Schools can earn up to 3 bonus points on administering ACT Aspire to Grade 9 students.

ACT

Where do we access the ACT reports that were shown in the presentation (PearsonAccess^next or success.act.org)?
The reports shown in the presentation were state-level reports that were posted in PAN.

Can you share recommendations for practice programs to help students prepare for testing and also to provide data throughout the school year with benchmark testing?
The Arizona Department of Education cannot recommend specific vendors or programs; however, we encourage districts and charters to reach out to neighboring districts and charters to ask what programs they are using.
