Special Education Directors,

It has been two years since ADE conducted the 2021 Instructional Accommodations Survey, a biennial inquiry that has informed ADE of accommodation trends since 2015. The information collected from the survey assists in planning presentations and training for the field. We invite you and other personnel, including both general and special educators, related service providers, as well as support staff, who provide instruction for students with disabilities to take a few minutes to respond to this year's survey.

ADE's Assessment and ESS Sections are particularly interested in feedback on accommodations that provide access to grade-level content aligned to Arizona's English Language Art and Mathematics Standards (2016). In addition, your input on areas of interest for professional development will help to inform us of current practices in the field and alert us to areas to consider for developing ADE supports for statewide assessments addressed in the 5-Year Assessment Plan.

This survey is intended for both general education and special education teachers. To ensure a robust, statewide sample, please forward the survey link and encourage your colleagues to respond. The survey will close on June 1, 2023. We appreciate your feedback and your dedication to students.
