Native American Heritage Month

Q: How many tribes are in Arizona?

A: There are 22 federally recognized Tribes in Arizona. Most of these tribes have a Tribal Education Department (TED), a Tribal Education Director, or someone from their Tribal leadership assigned to education if the Tribe is smaller. Some tribes solely contain schools operated by the Bureau of Indian Education.

Q: What is the smallest and largest tribe?

A: Smallest is Tonto Apache Tribe and the largest is the Navajo Nation.

Arizona Cyber
Joint Task Force (DCO-E)

Vision:

The Cyber Joint Task Force will be the trusted cyber resource for enhancement of cyber security posture and enabling critical resource retention in the state of Arizona.

CJTF Mission:

The AZ-CJTF will achieve its vision by:

I. Providing a force capable of reducing vulnerabilities in state and local agency networks by providing on-going assistance with penetration testing, vulnerability assessments, post-attack cyber incident response

II. Creating partnerships with state, local agencies, academia, and scientific institutions; developing long-term trust relationships between DEMA and other agencies

III. Enhancing state-level defensive strategy by participating and hosting training exercises

IV. Providing highly-technical, low-cost counseling capabilities to assist agencies desiring to improve cyber security posture and understand the cyber domain

V. Developing standards and tools to aid partners in investing in human capital to ensure a baseline cyber defense approach for agencies within the state

VI. Coordinating with Arizona and National entities to continue to grow team to meet expanding demand of cyber defense operations
